PROJECT OVERVIEW

Introduction

Ramadan, the holiest month in Islam, embodies principles of compassion, empathy, and generosity. As believers worldwide observe fasting and engage in spiritual reflection, the essence of Ramadan lies in its capacity to unite communities and foster empathy towards those in need. Embracing this spirit, Project for Humanity (P4H), proudly launched the Ramadan Project in Bangladesh. Targeting the most vulnerable among us, this initiative aimed to provide essential support and sustenance to the needy, ensuring they can observe Ramadan with dignity and hope.

P4H was committed to advancing compassion and generosity through Ramadan initiatives, which included the distribution of food baskets, iftar and Sehri programs, and the provision of Eid gifts. This report reflects the various initiatives and programs executed throughout Ramadan, shedding light on the endeavors dedicated to fostering a meaningful and beneficial impact on the lives of others.

Our Approach

P4H worked together with local communities and partners to find areas where help was needed. We created specific plans to help in those areas. These plans aimed to give important help and resources to people and families who were facing difficulties. This assistance allowed them to observe the Holy Month with dignity and happiness.

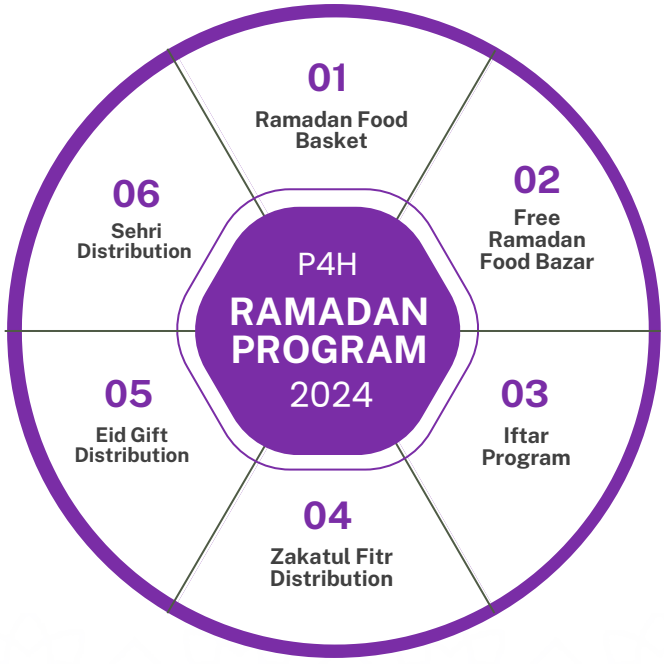
Our Vision

Project for Humanity (P4H) envisions a society where every person has access to the basic necessities of life, and where love and kindness will sustain. Our Ramadan initiatives are designed to create a positive impact on the lives of underprivileged individuals, bringing joy and happiness to those most in need. They serve as a reminder of the significance of giving back to our community, embodying our commitment to social responsibility.

PROJECT OVERVIEW

What we did

During the observance of Ramadan in comprehensive charitable initiatives were implemented across different districts of Bangladesh. Our project activities encompassed the provision of Ramadan food baskets, the facilitation of iftar programs, the distribution of Sehri meals, and the allocation of Eid gifts. The beneficiaries of these initiatives included orphans, students of madrasas, children residing in slums, individuals experiencing poverty, economically disadvantaged students, and destitute women within the community along with the Rohingya refugees living in distressed conditions.



Why we did

P4H uplifts the significance of extending the benefits of Ramadan to those underprivileged, thereby directing its initiatives towards this objective. It is firmly asserted that our initiatives bear a constructive influence on both individual well-being and community welfare, concurrently fostering the principles of sustainability, and solidarity.

When we did

We took our initiatives during the month of Ramadan in 2024 (March to April).

Where we did

The activities took place in more than 14 locations in different districts across Bangladesh.

TESTIMONIALS
Impressions of appreciation

I, as a receiver of P4H's Ramadan program, express my heartfelt gratitude. Being a small business owner, I'm struggling to provide for my family. Receiving a basket filled with groceries for the entire month is a blessing to me and my family. May Allah shower His mercy upon them abundantly!

Sakin Sheikh
Food Basket receiver

Receiving the bags full of food items has been a blessing beyond words for me and my family. For the past 12 years, I've been struggling to make ends meet, especially during Ramadan. With a disabled son to care for, providing sufficient food has always been a challenge. When I received the food basket, I was overwhelmed with gratitude.

Morjina Begum
Food Basket receiver

I am an 80-year-old individual living alone and unable to work due to my age. I am immensely grateful to have received the Ramadan food basket, which is enough for the entire month, Alhamdulillah,. This support brings me great joy and ensures I can observe Ramadan properly.
